I. Activities that were conducted during the academic year 2007-2008.

In the academic year 2007-2008, it was the year of contractual law in the Center's activities. During this year, two international conferences were held, and an international seminar was held. The seminars dealt with issues of contractual law in a variety of situations (and in addition to these seminars, other international seminars were held in other fields that are not clearly contractual).

The three seminars are:

- Convergence and Divergence of Law (March 8, 2008)
- Legal Transplants: A Comparative Historical Analysis (June 8, 2008)
- Comparative Perspectives on Tax Law and Culture (August 8, 2008)

It is appropriate to note that the international conferences of the Center are almost completely financed by funds that were allocated this year from outside sources: The Advanced Studies Institute in Tel Aviv (Mark Reitz Foundation), the Advanced Studies Institute in Jerusalem, the National Institute for Health Policy, the National Science Foundation, the Faculty of Law in Tel Aviv, and the Faculty of Law in Bar-Ilan.

A. Conferences that are planned to be held in the year 2008-2009

A. Community and Property

- Community and Property: A Conference & Registration Fee: $50
- The Devolution of Private Property: How Property Can Create, Maintain, or Destroy Community
- Comment: Yishai Blank, Tel-Aviv University Faculty of Law

The conference will be held on Wednesday, January 2, 2008 at Bar-Ilan University.
