SEMESTER DATES: Our semesters run mid-August – mid-December for Fall and mid-January – mid-May for Spring. Exact dates are TBD each year.

ACADEMIC FOCUS: We excel in many different areas in the law but are particularly known for Intellectual Property, Alternative Dispute Resolution, Corporate Law, Constitutional Law, Legal Philosophy and Theory, and Jewish Law.

REGISTRATION: Students pre-register before the semester begins. The Director at Cardozo shares instructions and information about courses available each semester. Exchange students are strongly encouraged to discuss their course selection with their home university coordinator to ensure they are meeting their university requirements. The Cardozo team is available to answer any questions regarding course selections. Students submit registration requests to the Director and are enrolled in courses through the Registrar's Office.

Exchange students are enrolled in courses with J.D. and LL.M. students. They can access most of the courses available at Cardozo except for those that require prior courses to have been completed at Cardozo.

CREDIT SYSTEM: We follow NY State and ABA credit standards. Each credit represents 750 minutes of in-class instruction time per semester, so each course must meet for 50 minutes per week, per credit, over a 15-week semester.

MANDATORY COURSE LOAD: Exchange students must take a full-time course load, which is a minimum of 9 credits. However, most students usually take 11 - 12 credits. Students should consult with their home university coordinator to determine required credits during their exchange semester.

LL.M. TRANSFER: Exchange students have the option to transfer their credits from the exchange semester to a future LL.M. program at Cardozo. Students must apply within two years of completing their first law degree for these credits to transfer.
